Amazon Affiliate Program

My goal at ShellyGalligan.com and in my newsletter, the Nautical. Medical. Periodical., is to provide superior content, useful tips, and tools to help you handle medical emergencies on the water with confidence.

The information you see on this site and in the Nautical. Medical. Periodical. is free, but represents many, many hours of time and research. I feel compensation is appropriate and necessary. I have agreements with some companies who pay me. I've worked hard to make this process minimally obtrusive for you.

I have not yet accepted advertising, however I do participate in affiliate programs to provide some income and allow me to devote my time and energy to providing the highest quality content possible. You have my word, I will only promote products I personally use or can recommend without hesitation. Integrity is everything to me. Gaining and keeping your trust is my highest priority.

What is an affiliate link / referral link?

Peppered throughout this site you will see references to my use of affiliate links or referral links. These references are called disclosures and are a requirement as put forth by the FTC.

They are there to inform you I have a relationship with a particular product or service and if you choose to purchase that product or service via my affiliate link, I may receive a small commission. This is at no extra cost to you, but it helps me pay the bills so I can keep bringing you great information! I often reference certain products in my writing. I provide a link to purchase these products should you be interested in them. Medical products can be confusing. I provide links for their purchase to make your life easier and to provide needed income. I truly appreciate your support.

A bit about Amazon. I am a participant in the Amazon Associates Program, an affiliate advertising program designed to provide a means for me to earn fees by linking to Amazon.com and affiliated sites.

Additional legal stuff just to make sure we've covered all the bases.

This blog written by me. It does not contain any content which might present a conflict of interest.
